Message from Inspector Teresa Futter

Welcome to this month's newsletter. Working closely with the local community is key to delivering all aspects of modern policing. I encourage you to continue to support us through our Public Engagement and Safer Neighbourhood Action Panel (SNAP) Priority Setting Meetings, the date of your next meeting can be found overleaf.

As the nights draw in, I would like to remind you that the darker evenings can make it easier for opportunist criminals, so I would ask you all to be vigilant, secure your homes and property and to report any suspicious people or vehicles to us immediately via 101 or 999.

Message from your Engagement Officer PC Pete Davison

Tackling rural crime and supporting our communities is firmly in the spotlight with the release of the Norfolk Rural Policing Strategy Annual Report. The launch of the report on Rural Crime Day of Action (today, Thursday 8 November) has been marked by officers visiting rural communities across Norfolk offering crime prevention advice.

Officers have been visiting local residents and businesses to provide information and support with a particular focus on heating oil thefts, as well as working with Trading Standards to carry out site visits following recent complaints about rogue traders.

Rural churches vulnerable to lead theft offences have also been visited and crime prevention advice provided, whilst officers from the Special Constabulary joined officers from the Community Safety Neighbourhood Policing Team and Rural Beat Managers to carry out visits at scrap yards, boat yards and rural businesses to offer advice, discuss any concerns and provide reassurance.

A copy of the Norfolk Rural Policing Strategy Annual Report can be found at www.norfolk.police.uk.
